Communication, Media, and Theatre

The Department of Communication, Media and Theatre (CMT) links three creative and demanding disciplines, all of which focus on social interaction, technology, and performance. The department offers an undergraduate Bachelor of Arts degree and a graduate Master of Arts degree.

CMT Undergraduate Program - Bachelor of Arts Degree

The undergraduate Bachelor of Arts degree includes courses on public speaking, group dynamics, intercultural communication, relationships, critical thinking, political activism, audio and visual media production, media literacy, journalism, film and television studies, performance, theatre literature, theatre production, and theatre education. Undergraduate students in the CMT program acquire proficiency in the theory and practice of communication, media, and theatre arts as well as develop an appreciation of differing values and perceptions of the world. Students acquire hands-on media training in a state-of-the-art media laboratory and firsthand theatre experience in the Stage Center Theatre. The CMT department also has a successful internship program that has helped many of our graduates secure employment upon graduation.

Students may declare a Communication, Media, and Theatre major or one of our six minors by visiting the CMT Department office (FA 240). At the time of declaring a major or minor in the Department, the student will be assigned an academic advisor from the Department faculty.

CMT majors may waive up to six credit hours of General Education requirements in either the Fine Arts or Humanities distribution area (or a combination of three credits in each distribution area).

Students in other majors who are looking for First-Year Experience (FYE) courses, General Education Courses, or a one-credit course at the 300-level to complete the 40-credit 300-level requirement may be interested in taking any of the following courses:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Hours</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Courses of Interest for Non-CMT Majors</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First-Year Experience (FYE) Courses</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMTM-109A</td>
<td>First Year Experience: Chicago On Video: One Pixel At A Time</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMTT-109</td>
<td>First Year Experience: Staging Chicago: Performances In, For, &amp; About Chicago</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Education Courses</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMTC-100</td>
<td>Introduction to Communication</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMTM-160</td>
<td>Introduction To Cinema</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMTT-130</td>
<td>Introduction to Theatre</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One-Credit 300-Level Courses</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMTM-390</td>
<td>NEIU Cinémathèque</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CMT Graduate Program - Master of Arts Degree

The graduate Master of Arts degree in Communication, Media, and Theatre includes coursework that is largely historical and theoretical in nature and is designed to provide advanced study in these disciplines. Students will further their understanding of interpersonal, intercultural, and organizational relationships; confront complex social problems; think critically about new media technologies; and understand the role of film, television, and the dramatic arts in contemporary social life. The program is designed for students interested in advanced corporate, non-profit, or public service positions; current teachers at the elementary or secondary level; and those preparing for positions in higher education or further graduate study.

All newly admitted students begin coursework in the fall semester in a cohort:

- Major in Communication, Media and Theatre (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/communication-media-theatre/)
- Minor in Communication, Media and Theatre (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/minor-communication-media-theatre/)
- Minor in Communication (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/minor-communication/)
- Minor in Media (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/minor-media/)
- Minor in Journalism (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/minor-journalism/)
- Minor in Theatre (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/minor-theatre/)
- Master of Arts in Communication, Media and Theatre (http://catalog.neiu.edu/arts-sciences/communication-media-theatre/master-arts-communication-media-theatre/)

Shayne Pepper, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Chair
Katrina E. Bell-Jordan, Ph.D., Professor
Maura Cherney, Ph.D., Assistant Professor
CMTC-100. Introduction to Communication. 3 Hours.
The study of human communication with emphasis on how we communicate, the factors that influence the success of our communication interactions, and the areas in which communication take place.

CMTC-101. Public Speaking. 3 Hours.
The development of skills common to all forms of oral communication with emphasis on public speaking. Students will study organization, delivery, sources of materials and language usage.

CMTC-202. Voice and Diction. 3 Hours.
Emphasis on improving voice quality, volume, projection, rate, articulation, and pronunciation.

CMTC-210. Advanced Public Speaking. 3 Hours.
Concentrated study of public speaking and research for public speech, with attention to speech criticism and providing experience in various types of public speaking. Students will videotape selected talks for critique.

CMTC-213. Interpersonal Communication. 3 Hours.
This course studies how humans relate through the use of verbal and nonverbal symbols. Through participation and involvement, students explore how communication creates, maintains, and deteriorates relationships. Students also examine messages, meanings, feedback, nonverbal elements, listening, barriers and breakdowns as they affect relationships.

CMTC-214. Business and Professional Communication. 3 Hours.
This course focuses on the development of oral and written communication skills that are essential for professional life, including topics such as problem solving, listening, interviewing, and presentational skills.

CMTC-215. Small Group Communication. 3 Hours.
This course provides an in-depth study of small group communication processes. Students explore topics such as decision-making and problem solving, leadership, conflict, and diversity issues. Students are required to participate in group project.

CMTC-300. Mediated Communication. 3 Hours.
This is an investigation of the effects media and technologies have on social interaction and communication behaviors such as speaking, listening, understanding, and interpreting.

CMTC-301. Nonverbal Communication. 3 Hours.
This course explores the nature of non-verbal messages such as body language, facial expression, and artifacts in various communication contexts.

CMTC-305. Writing Intensive Program: Writing In Communication, Media & Theatre. 3 Hours.
This course is a writing intensive experience designed to introduce students to the functions and applications of various writing practices and theories in communication, media, and theatre. Students will gain an understanding of the foundations of these disciplines; recognize the broad categories of theoretical perspectives, such as humanistic, social scientific, and critical; and evaluate the contributions of various theories in interpersonal, rhetorical, organizational, media, dramatic, and intercultural contexts. This course includes formal (graded) and informal writing exercises of varying length and complexity, including but not limited to: free-writing, reading responses, and article critiques, as well as more advanced analysis and application papers.
Prerequisite: ENGL-101 minimum grade of C.

CMTC-306. Special Topics In Communication. 3 Hours.
This special topics course provides undergraduate students with the opportunity to study in depth a particular topic of communication. Topics will include, but are not limited to, the role and importance of communication in religion and science, politics, negotiation, intimacy and desire, and social difference.

CMTC-308. Independent Study in Communication. 3 Hours.
Individual investigation into a topic of the student's choice. Requires approval of instructor, chair and dean.

CMTC-310. Persuasion. 3 Hours.
This course examines contemporary theories and practices of persuasion through analysis and evaluation of persuasive messages in society from the used car lot to the presidential campaign.

CMTC-313. Communication, Gender & Identity. 3 Hours.
This course investigates some of the effects that gender and other identities have on communication behaviors, such as naming, language acquisition, professional orientation, conflict management, self-image, dress and social roles.

CMTC-314. Organizational Communication. 3 Hours.
This course examines organizational communication processes such as organizational culture, diversity, workplace participation and democracy. Students will assess (in)effective communication practices in organizations.
CMTC-315. Leadership Communication. 3 Hours.
This course examines the theory and practice of the social-emotional and task-related aspects of leadership processes. Students will explore standard works in classical leadership theory and contemporary frameworks related to motivation, emotional intelligence, and toxic leadership dynamics.

CMTC-316. Family Communication. 3 Hours.
This course studies the family system with a focus on the role communication plays in maintaining it. Students explore the functions of family roles, rules, and power and ways to increase or decrease communication effectiveness in this system.

CMTC-317. Intercultural Communication. 3 Hours.
This course explores issues in intercultural communication. Students will examine their own as well as other people's cultures. Major topics include race and ethnicity, immigration, social class, intercultural conflict, and social justice and how these reflect and/or affect verbal and nonverbal communication processes.

CMTC-319. Conflict Communication. 3 Hours.
This course examines the communication processes in interpersonal, organizational, and intercultural conflict, with attention to theories, research and practice related to conflict management.

CMTC-320. Classical Rhetoric. 3 Hours.

CMTC-322. Rhetorical Theory and Criticism. 3 Hours.
Rhetorical theories from the modern era with attention to principal figures and critical methods. Consent of instructor.

CMTC-324. Rhetoric of Protest and Reform. 3 Hours.
Study of the speakers who through public communication had an impact on the course of American history from the colonial period to the present, such as Jonathan Edwards, Patrick Henry, Wendell Phillips, Robert Ingersoll, Angelina Grimke, William Lloyd Harrison, Carry Nation, Eugene V. Debs, Harry Truman and Martin Luther King. Consent of instructor.

CMTC-328. Rhetoric - Selected Studies. 1 Hour.
In-depth study of particular rhetorical figure, tradition or period. Emphasis placed on the impact of rhetorical communication in a specific social, cultural or historical context. Consent of instructor.

CMTC-329. Health Communication. 3 Hours.
This course is designed to provide an introduction to communication processes in various health care contexts. The course will integrate interpersonal, small group, organizational, and mass communication theory and research into a survey of areas such as communication between patients and caregivers, the role of culture in health practices, images of health in the mass media, and new directions in health communication technologies.

CMTC-330. Communication Research Methods. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the principles and methods of social scientific research as they relate to the antecedents, processes and outcomes of communication behaviors. This course is intended to cultivate skills necessary for interpreting and critically evaluating research results and for designing research projects. Topics include forming research questions and hypotheses, reviewing and critiquing literature, applying quantitative and qualitative research techniques, coding and analyzing observations and writing research reports.

CMTC-383. Professional Internship 1. 3 Hours.
Professional activities in a selected field of communication, performed and supervised at public or private facilities, corporate communication sites, businesses, agencies, etc.

CMTC-384. Professional Internship 2. 6 Hours.
(See CMTC-383 for description.).

CMTC-385. Professional Internship 3. 9 Hours.
(See CMTC-383 for description.).

CMTC-386. Professional Experience Seminar. 3 Hours.
The course will provide students with an opportunity to work in a professional communication, media or theatre position while examining the experience with a faculty member and their peers. For many students, a professional placement is a new, unfamiliar experience with a set of demands that are distinct from the academic world. This course will allow students to earn credit for an internship in their desired field, while enhancing their professionalism through discussion and reflection. Consent of the instructor is required.

CMTC-400. Special Topics In Communication. 3 Hours.
This special topics course provides graduate students with the opportunity to study in depth a particular area (e.g., intercultural, group, gender, family, organizational, interpersonal), topic (e.g., identity and difference, intimacy and desire, corporate consulting, political rhetoric), or method (e.g., rhetorical criticism, auto/ethnography, content analysis) of communication. The focus will be on critically examining foundational and contemporary works that advance the theory, research, and practice about this area, topic, or method.

CMTC-401. Introduction to Graduate Study. 3 Hours.
Problems, methods and resources involved in graduate study and research in all areas of communication, media and theatre.

CMTC-402. Seminar In Research Methods. 3 Hours.
An introduction to the principles and methods of Communication, Media and Theatre research. This course is intended to cultivate skills necessary for interpreting and critically evaluating research results and for designing research critiquing literature, applying quantitative and qualitative research techniques, coding and analyzing observations, and writing research reports.
CMTM-404. Communication Theory. 3 Hours.
An analysis of communication theories, including the nature of theories, message design and reception. Course covers a broad range of theories in the communication discipline, including both humanistic and social scientific approaches. Nonetheless, particular theories analyzed each semester will vary, depending on the instructor.

CMTC-414. Seminar In Organizational Communication. 3 Hours.
This course will provide an advanced look at the major elements of organizational theory that apply to organizational communication. This field, in a modern sense, began in the 1950's and since then has grown to be one of the biggest forces in communication today. We will examine what theories direct the reality of organizations and how much of that reality is managed for the purposes of controlling individuals, whether overtly or symbolically.

CMTC-416. Seminar In Interpersonal Communication. 3 Hours.
This is a seminar exploring the basic themes, concepts and debates in research on personal relationships. Students will learn to critically analyze theory and research about relationships. The course requires a major paper on one particular facet of communication in personal relationships.

CMTC-434. Independent Study In Communication. 3 Hours.
Individual investigation into selected topics in the theory and practice of communication. This course requires approval of the instructor, Department Chair and the appropriate College Dean(s).

CMTC-5901. Thesis Hours. 1 Hour.
Guidance of student work toward the completion of a thesis to fulfill the requirements for the Master of Arts degree in Communication, Media, and Theatre. Students may register for 1--#3 credits per term with a total of 6 credits required to complete the thesis project. This course requires approval of the instructor, Department Chair, and the appropriate College Dean(s).

Requirement: Approval of the graduate advisor.

CMTC-5902. Thesis Hours. 2 Hours.
See course description for CMTC-5901.

CMTC-5903. Thesis Hours. 3 Hours.
See course description for CMTC-5901.

CMTE-490. Instructional Communication. 3 Hours.
Selected topics in methods and materials related to speaking and listening; instructional problems relative to type of programs, trends in instruction, sources, resources and research. Individual projects will adapt resources and methodology to a particular type of school and classroom, such as the inner city.

CMTE-492. Teaching College Speech. 3 Hours.
This course examines the tasks of the communication teacher; philosophy, objectives, materials and methods of instruction, communication curricula and departmental operations; and professional relationships in the community.

CMTM-105. Introduction To Journalism. 3 Hours.
This survey course introduces students to the field of journalism, its basic concepts, processes and practices. It is intended as a guide to the workings of the journalism industry, including its various branches, the basis of news judgment, and the nature of journalism in the era of new media. Its hands-on approach is designed to provide a theoretical as well as "real world" understanding of the news and application of principles related to the production and dissemination of the news.

CMTM-109A. First Year Experience: Chicago On Video: One Pixel At A Time. 3 Hours.
In this course, the five foundations of the First-Year Experience (Future Planning, Integral Preparation, Research, Self-discovery and Transitions) are interwoven with the field-specific concepts and terminology of video production. Students in this dynamic, hands-on class will turn the lens on other students engaged in hands-on learning….producing children’s theatre, testing water samples, conducting fieldwork, examining issues of social justice….and get a taste of both documentary production and advanced undergraduate coursework at NEIU. Students will also get to explore uses of video at the community level - from high school students covering sports events, to local immigrants keeping their cultural ties alive.

CMTM-160. Introduction To Cinema. 3 Hours.
This course introduces students to the basic elements of cinema (editing, cinematography, sound, etc.) and explores how these elements contribute to our understanding of the themes and meanings of a particular film. After gaining a foundational understanding of these formal elements, students assess how topics such as genre, narrative, authorship, and ideology help to shape cinema.

CMTM-165. Broadcasting & New Media. 3 Hours.
Introduction to the business and creative processes, structure and function of American television and radio, emphasizing the production, distribution and reception of news and information programming.

CMTM-205. Fundamentals Of Media Writing. 3 Hours.
This course helps students solidify grammar and writing skills so they can enter the competitive field of media. It focuses on punctuation and spelling issues and introduces the"Bible" of print media, The Associated Press Stylebook. Fundamentals of Media Writing picks up where Introduction to Journalism, CMTM-105, leaves off by moving students from talking about and analyzing journalistic writing to learning the basic tools to begin practicing the profession. The course serves as a skill-building foundation and prerequisite for News Writing, CMTM-367.

CMTM-208. Media Laboratory. 1 Hour.
Participation in various phases of production and management for either on campus or off-campus radio, television, or film activities. Communication, Media and Theatre majors may repeat this course once for laboratory credit towards graduation requirements only.
CMTM-250. Introduction To Audio Production. 3 Hours.
This course introduces students to the process of audio production. The course also explores sound as an industry and an art form, as well as a tool of self-expression and of story telling. Through a series of production exercises, working individually and in groups, the student becomes familiar with the process of audio production from concept to field recordings, to scripting and editing, to producing and mixing and then to sharing the finished work with others.

CMTM-260. Introduction to Video Production. 3 Hours.
This class will introduce students to the principles and practices of digital video production, with an emphasis on single camera field production and digital, non-linear editing. Aesthetics and conventions of television programs, independent/art videos, and documentaries will also be examined.

CMTM-265. Mass Media and Society. 3 Hours.
Development and problems of the media; the history, regulation, and social and economic implications of the media; American media systems and their relation to the media's cultural content and function.

CMTM-310. Independent Study In Media. 3 Hours.
Individual investigation into a topic of the student's choice. Must have approval of instructor, chair and dean.

CMTM-3111. Fieldwork in Video Production. 1 Hour.
Academic credit (1-6 cr.) for guided video production fieldwork. Reserved for students who have been invited to participate in documentary, narrative, experimental, commercial or other relevant and typically off-campus field production opportunities. Student enrolls with media faculty who directs project and oversees student performance. Students will utilize research skills, apply principles learned in classroom, contribute meaningfully to a long-strand production, earn credit in a broadcast or higher-profile production, and explore career options. May be taken more than once, for a maximum of six credit hours.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-3112. Fieldwork in Video Production. 2 Hours.
See CMTM-311 for course description.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-3113. Fieldwork in Video Production. 3 Hours.
See CMTM-311 for course description.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-3114. Fieldwork in Video Production. 4 Hours.
See CMTM-311 for course description.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-3115. Fieldwork in Video Production. 5 Hours.
See CMTM-311 for course description.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-3116. Fieldwork in Video Production. 6 Hours.
See CMTM-311 for course description.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-360. Advanced Video Production. 3 Hours.
This hands-on class will expand students' understanding and application of the tools of video production. Student projects will primarily be individually produced, single camera video programs. We will screen many examples of video works, of a variety of genres and with an eye for the impact of the mode of transmission on the product. We will pay critical attention to audio for video, focus on the development of one's own "voice," and emphasize constructive criticism and revision.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-361. Digital Video Editing. 4 Hours.
This hands-on class introduces students to the principles and practices of digital, non-linear video editing, including the aesthetics and conventions of film and video cutting, history and theories of editing, and technical aspects of editing. Students will use sample footage to edit, present and critique several projects, and they will edit a final piece using footage of their own choosing.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-362. Video Production Workshop. 3 Hours.
In this intensive, hands-on class students will produce short non-fiction video modules, linked to a specific theme each term. Students will work in small production teams, and will write, direct, shoot and edit their segments, rotating responsibilities. Students will screen, critique and revise modules, create finished shows, and organize and promote screenings.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or MASS-260 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-363. Documentary Film. 3 Hours.
Historical survey of the international non-fiction film, including creative films, anthropological films, and television journalistic documentaries.
CMTM-364. Writing For Media - Revolving Topics. 3 Hours.
This revolving topics course provides exposure to a variety of writing topics and writing formats that will give students studying media the opportunity to develop in-depth written works in a workshop environment, with an emphasis on constructive criticism and revision. Consult the Schedule of Classes for specific topics.

CMTM-364A. Writing The Sitcom. 3 Hours.
This is a course devoted to writing the television half-hour situation comedy - a highly conventionalized television form. Students will discuss theories of comedy, analyze the structure of the sitcom, and learn industry standards for formatting and developing a script from initial idea to final script. Students will work in an approximation of a television "writers' room" in which feedback and critique are part of the creative process.

CMTM-364B. Writing For Media: Solutions Journalism. 3 Hours.
This version of Writing for Media will focus on a new way of covering the news called "Solutions Journalism." Students will read, analyze, and write news stories that address problems but also focus on the solutions.

CMTM-365. Contemporary Issues in Mass Media. 3 Hours.
Advanced study of the socio-psychological impact of the media upon contemporary society.
Prerequisite: CMTM-265 minimum grade of C or MASS-265 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-366. Multimedia Storytelling. 3 Hours.
This course will involve writing for various media platforms with practice in the multimedia creation of original works; experience in writing forms and content typical of various media and criteria for evaluating written work; discussion of career opportunities.
Prerequisite: CMTM-260 minimum grade of C or CMTM-250 minimum grade of C.

CMTM-367. News Writing. 3 Hours.
This course will take students through the basics of news writing and reporting. The course will demand in-class writing assignments that will help students prioritize information and write with accuracy under deadline. Students will discuss and be tested on current affairs and evaluate a variety of news sources. Students will cover local events and generate story ideas.
Prerequisite: CMTM-205 minimum grade of D.

CMTM-368. Community Media. 3 Hours.
The course will familiarize students with the important journalistic function uniquely served by community-based media, a function increasingly important in today's media landscape of centrally produced content controlled by fewer and fewer owners focused primarily on the economic needs of those owners and the advertisers. The course will introduce students to different forms of community media - print, video, audio, and new technologies - and how these contribute to the building of community.

CMTM-370. Public Relations. 3 Hours.
Examination of the history, development and practice of the public relations field, with attention to the planning, implementation and execution of public relations campaigns and the survey techniques and strategies used by public relations practitioners.

This course is an investigation of the evolution of American film history from its origins to the end of World War II. Students are introduced to the creative, industrial, and technological developments of the given period using a variety of analytical approaches. Films are investigated according to their historical, technological, aesthetic, and ideological significance as well as their genre placement.

This course is an investigation of the evolution of American film history from the end of World War II until the present. Students are introduced to the creative, industrial, and technological developments of the given period using a variety of analytical approaches. Films are investigated according to their historical, technological, aesthetic, and ideological significance as well as their genre placement.

CMTM-373. World Cinema. 3 Hours.
An examination of the major influential film movements and filmmakers from around the world and their impact on the language of cinema. This course is intended to develop an understanding of the evolution of narrative film history by analyzing films according to their historical, technological, aesthetic and ideological significance.

CMTM-374. Special Topics In Film. 3 Hours.
This revolving topics course provides exposure to a variety of topics that will give students studying film the opportunity to engage in broader as well as more in-depth investigations of the history, concepts and theoretical approaches to film studies and the body of scholarship in this field. Consult the Schedule of Classes for specific topics.

CMTM-374A. American Horror Film. 3 Hours.
As one of the revolving topics in the Studies in Film course, this class will introduce the history, evolution, and important themes of the American horror film, serving as an overview of the genre and locating it in American historical, cultural, and literary contexts. Approaches will include close readings of films as well as psychoanalytic, ideological, and feminist analyses. A number of films and clips will be screened and discussed in the context of course readings.

CMTM-375. Contemporary Hispanic Cinema. 3 Hours.
An introduction to some of the major contemporary films and filmmakers from Spain and Latin American countries. The course will not only analyze the artistic merits of the films, but also examine the social, economic, historical and political context within which they were created and how their themes are related to national identity, as well as international concerns.
CMTM-376. Television History. 3 Hours.
An overview of the cultural history of television from its origins in radio to cable and satellite communication, primarily in the U.S., but with some comparison to international contexts. Television programs are the primary focus and will be used to explore topics such as technology, regulation, audience measurement, commercial and educational/public broadcasting, advertising and programming strategies.

CMTM-377. Gender And Media. 3 Hours.
This course examines representations of gender and sexuality in popular media. Students will begin with feminist theories of representation and follow theoretical developments that include issues of race, ethnicity, masculinity, and queer theory as they relate to film, television, and new media.

CMTM-378. New Media Technologies. 3 Hours.
This course explores emerging media technologies, including descriptions of the technologies, how their implementation affects existing media institutions, and social implications of the technologies. Emphasis is on historical perspectives on emerging media technologies in the global information society including digital audio-visual media, computers and consumer electronics, and various networking technologies. The course provides students with an understanding of the background, structure, functions, and current status for each technology. Emerging convergent media revolutionizing the global knowledge system will also be covered, including deregulatory policies, corporate mergers, and industrial restructuring.

CMTM-379. Media Law & Ethics. 3 Hours.
This course introduces students to the study of legal and ethical issues affecting U.S. mass media from journalistic and business perspectives. Specifically, the course will explore the legal and ethical responsibilities and rights of communicators and media professionals across various issues, including the First Amendment, defamation, privacy, newsgathering, regulation over media content, intellectual property rights, and regulation of electronic media and advertising industry. It will also help students think through media issues from a moral reasoning perspective by taking a variety of cases through an ethical framework.

CMTM-380. Special Topics in Television. 3 Hours.
This special topics course provides exposure to a variety of topics in television studies. Students will investigate historical, industrial, theoretical, and critical approaches to television studies. Consult the Schedule of Classes for specific topics.

CMTM-380A. Television Genres. 3 Hours.
Television Genres will cover a variety of scholarly approaches to the study of television programs. Genres can be studied for how they change over time, in response to cultural changes or economic exigencies. This course will take up theoretical questions of televisuality (the aesthetic conditions of the television text), and then focus on a number of particular genres. We will be primarily focusing on U.S. television, but there will be some attention to global questions, especially those of flow and format.

CMTM-383. Professional Internship 1. 3 Hours.
Professional activities in a selected field of media, performed and supervised at public or private facilities, corporations, business agencies, etc.

CMTM-384. Professional Internship 2. 6 Hours.
(See CMTM-383 for description).

CMTM-385. Professional Internship 3. 9 Hours.
(See CMTM-383 for description).

CMTM-390. NEIU Cinémathèque. 1 Hour.
A “cinémathèque” is a small, specialized theater where important films are screened, discussed, archived, preserved, and loved. Drawing upon the tradition of cinémathèques across the world, this course will provide an opportunity for students to screen, discuss, and research important works of cinema here at Northeastern Illinois University. With on-campus resources such as 35mm prints screened by the Chicago Film Society and our extensive holdings of the Criterion Collection in the Ronald Williams Library, students will learn about the material practices surrounding film such as archival collection, preservation, and restoration as well as distribution, exhibition, criticism, and reception.

CMTM-410. Independent Study In Media. 3 Hours.
Individual investigation into selected topics in theory and practice of media. Independent studies require the approval of the instructor, Department Chair and appropriate College Dean(s).

CMTM-465. Mass Communication Theory. 3 Hours.
This course is designed to investigate the concepts, ideologies, and resulting scholarship that are relevant to the study of mass communication. Students will study a variety of mass communication theories and will critically evaluate the merits of these perspectives. Students will develop research projects to further interpret and utilize mass communication theories.

CMTM-466. Media And Cultural Studies. 3 Hours.
This graduate seminar is designed to expose students to a “cultural studies” approach to media. Cultural studies scholars are primarily concerned with issues of power, and this approach has long informed the discipline of critical media studies. The focus on media will explore structures of power and inequality as they relate to the politics of identity and experience. Drawing upon foundational readings in the field as well as current media and cultural studies scholarship, students will spend the semester exploring the way in which these structures of power materialize in media texts and industrial formations.

CMTM-467. Special Topics In Film & Television. 3 Hours.
This special topics course provides graduate students an opportunity to explore historical and theoretical approaches specific to studies of film and television. Special topics may include film history and theory, television history, national cinemas, genres, industrial technologies and trends, and issues of representation such as race, class, and gender. Required: Graduate standing.
CMTM-468. Seminar In New Media. 3 Hours.
This course will explore critical approaches to “new media” by considering the dual meaning of the term. On one hand it describes the sense of “newness” often accompanying emerging media technologies throughout history, but it also describes the important contemporary shift from analog to digital media. Students will examine the history of several media technologies at critical moments of development, change, or rupture as well as analyze issues relevant to digital media such as file sharing, social networking, identity theft, surveillance, and cyberwarfare.

CMT-109. First Year Experience: Staging Chicago:Performances In, For, & About Chicago. 3 Hours.
In Staging Chicago students will read, watch, write, and perform plays about Chicago. Special attention will be paid to plays that premiered in Chicago and were produced by Chicago artists. In addition to reading plays, students will have an opportunity to stage scenes and present their own theatrical interpretation of the Second City.

CMTT-130. Introduction to Theatre. 3 Hours.
Survey of the components of theatrical experience and the function of the various contributors to theatrical production. Attendance at selected theatrical productions is required.

CMTT-139. Theatre Practicum 1. 1 Hour.
Practical, hands-on experience in all technical areas of theatre for main stage productions. Communication, Media and Theatre majors may repeat this course once for laboratory credit towards graduation requirements.

CMTT-203. Voice For The Performer. 3 Hours.
This course offers an intensive exploration of spoken vocal performance technique for the actor. Students will examine the function and usage of breath, create healthy connection between breath and sound, build resonance, and improve articulation skills leading to dynamic performances in a variety of texts and forms.

CMTT-220. Improvisation. 3 Hours.
Emphasis on mastering improvisational theatre games for both actor training and performance.

CMTT-221. Acting 1. 3 Hours.
The basic skills of acting including the actor’s internal preparation for playing a role and the development of his/her external technique for projecting the role to the audience.

CMTT-239. Theatre Practicum. 3 Hours.
Practical, hands-on experience in all technical areas of theatre for main stage productions.

CMTT-240. Stagecraft. 3 Hours.
An introduction to all aspects of backstage technical production.

CMTT-242. Costume Construction. 3 Hours.
Students will learn theatrical costume construction techniques through the study of basic fabric handling, pattern cutting, hand and machine sewing, and fabric dying. Students will also learn costume care and storage.

CMTT-249. Makeup. 3 Hours.
Fundamentals of stage and television makeup for straight and character roles; emphasis on the application of makeup, historical periods and uses of masks.

CMTT-255. Performance of Literature. 3 Hours.
Development of intellectual and emotional responsiveness to prose, poetry and drama, and the ability to communicate effectively in performance.

CMTT-309. Independent Study in Theatre. 3 Hours.
Individual investigation into a topic of the student’s choice. Approval of instructor, department chair and dean.

CMTT-321. Acting 2. 4 Hours.
Refinement of skills developed in Acting 1 with emphasis on the use of improvisation to develop and project characters from standard plays.
Prerequisite: CMTT-221 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-331. History of Theatre 1. 3 Hours.
Chronological survey of the development of theatre and drama of the Western World from the early Greek festivals to the early Renaissance period.

CMTT-332. History of Theatre 2. 3 Hours.
Chronological survey of the development of theatre and drama of the Western World from the Renaissance period to the twentieth century.

CMTT-333. Contemporary Theatre. 3 Hours.
This course provides a survey of theatre and drama from the twentieth century to the present.

CMTT-334. Special Topics In Theatre. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of the major works of a single dramatist or movement, the relationship of those works to the period in which they were produced, and their place in the history of dramatic literature. Consult the Schedule of Classes for specific topics.

CMTT-335. American Theatre And Society. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of American plays in the 20th century that reflect the political and social changes in the society. Plays will be analyzed in relation to the literary text, the theatrical texts in their historical and social context, and social issues through literature.
CMTT-336. Realism and Naturalism. 3 Hours.
A survey of naturalism and realism in drama and theatre from the late 19th century to the present, covering major plays, playwrights and theatre practitioners.

CMTT-337. Women In Playwriting. 3 Hours.
This course examines the work of the dynamic women who have shaped theatre through their words and stories. The class will investigate the lens of women playwrights and the diverse range of art created through that lens.

CMTT-338. Melodrama. 3 Hours.
An exploration of melodrama as the dramatic form that dominated the nineteenth century stage in the United States. The course focuses on identifying the characteristics of melodrama and contemporaneous theatre practice, reading representative plays, and exploring the social and political issues of the day reflected in the plays.

CMTT-339. Technical Theatre Production. 3 Hours.
The study and practice of technical theatre production in the areas of scenery, lighting, costumes, and props. Students collaborate and execute the designs for the Stage Center Theatre Mainstage Season.

CMTT-340. Set Design. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive study of the principles of scene design theory and practice.
Prerequisite: CMTT-130 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-341. Lighting Design. 3 Hours.
Comprehensive study of the principles of lighting design theory and practical application.
Prerequisite: CMTT-130 minimum grade of C or PERF-130 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-342. Costume Design. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of the basic design skills, identification of textiles, as well as analysis of dramatic texts for costuming and coordinating designs with a theatre production team.
Prerequisite: CMTT-130 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-343. Stage Management. 3 Hours.
In-depth study of the job of the Stage Manager, including production planning, prompt book design, scheduling and managing rehearsal time, and actually stage managing and calling a show.

CMTT-345. Directing. 3 Hours.
Principles and techniques of the director's art.
Prerequisite: CMTT-130 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-346. American Musical Theatre. 3 Hours.
Survey of the history and evolution of American musical theatre, particularly focusing on the “Broadway musical”, within the context of the political, economic, social and cultural events.

CMTT-347. Playwriting. 3 Hours.
Study of dramatic art with practice in the writing of plays for dramatic production. An attempt will be made to provide laboratory productions of outstanding student works.

CMTT-348. Advanced Stagecraft. 3 Hours.
Advanced methods in backstage technical production.
Prerequisite: CMTT-240 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-349. Summer Theatre. 3 Hours.
A laboratory class covering all phases of theatre production in conjunction with the production of a play script. Includes acting, directing, set and costume design, choreography, lighting, props publicity and theatre management as related to the production of a play script.

CMTT-350. Children’s Theatre Workshop: Elementary. 4 Hours.
This course offers a comprehensive look at all facets of creating and producing theatre for Elementary school aged youth. Students research professional approaches to theatre for young audiences, rehearse, design, market, createyouth engagement experiences, and build education strategies in order to generate critical storytelling experiences for young people. The course culminates in a class mounted production of a play for Chicago Public School student audiences in Stage Center Theatre.

CMTT-351. Children’s Theatre Workshop: Middle and High School. 4 Hours.
This course offers a comprehensive look at all facets of creating and producing theatre for Middle and High School aged youth. Students research professional approaches to theatre for young audiences, rehearse, design, market, create youth engagement experiences, and build education strategies in order to generate critical storytelling experiences for young people. The course culminates in a class mounted production of a play for Chicago Public School student audiences in Stage Center Theatre.

CMTT-355. Advanced Performance Of Literature. 3 Hours.
Literary analysis of poetry and prose; presentation of individual and multiple performers.
Prerequisite: CMTT-255 minimum grade of C or PERF-255 minimum grade of C.
CMTT-357. Interpretation of Shakespeare. 3 Hours.
Selected comedies, tragedies and histories, tracing the development of the dramatist; emphasis on special performance techniques to illuminate a thorough study of the plays.
Prerequisite: CMTT-255 minimum grade of C or PERF-255 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-358. Acting 3. 4 Hours.
Advanced methods in acting including analyzing language and approaching language problems in theatre production. Scene work is taken from classic dramas.
Prerequisite: CMTT-321 minimum grade of C.

CMTT-359. Experimental Theatre. 3 Hours.
In this course, students will study and perform experimental modes of theatre. Methods may include collaborative devising, verbatim theatre, playback theatre, physical theatre, relational performance, solo storytelling, game theatre, and live art techniques.

CMTT-383. Professional Internship 1. 3 Hours.
Professional activities in a selected field of theatre, performed and supervised at public or private facilities, theatres, organizations, schools, etc.

CMTT-384. Professional Internship 2. 6 Hours.
(See CMTT-383 for description.).

CMTT-385. Professional Internship 3. 9 Hours.
(See CMTT-383 for description.).

CMTT-392. Integrating The Arts Across Disciplines: Art As A Tool For Teaching & Training. 3 Hours.
This course instructs aspiring leaders in the fields of education, business, science, and the arts in utilizing the skills of collaboration, innovation, and project management employed across the disciplines as tools for teaching, training, creativity, and innovation. This experiential course delivers the fundamental concepts and pedagogy of creative leadership through field experience, guest interviews, and documentation projects.

CMTT-393. Drama For Teaching And Learning. 3 Hours.
CMTT-393 is a practical, process-oriented course designed to introduce students to techniques for using drama as a teaching tool. From 20th century techniques for using drama as a teaching tool in elementary and middle schools, to contemporary approaches to drama as a means of community engagement and social intervention with youth and adults, students will explore multiple methods for applying drama and theatre in a variety of pedagogical settings. Course assignments are hands-on and emphasize various techniques in a space conducive to developing increased proficiency, both individually and in groups.

CMTT-423. Independent Study in Theatre. 3 Hours.
Individual investigation into selected topics in methods and materials for dramatic activities. Permission of instructor, chair, dean & graduate director.

CMTT-430. Dramatic Theory. 3 Hours.
This course offers an analysis of major theories of dramatic writing and dramatic production from Aristotle to contemporary theorists, and explores how these theories influence theatre and drama.

CMTT-431. Comparative Performing Arts. 3 Hours.
This course compares various examples and methodologies of adaptation in performing arts such as ballet, opera, drama, film, and television. Students are required to attend performances.

CMTT-446. Theatre Management. 3 Hours.
Managerial policies and practices in educational and community theatres with emphasis upon common problems and solutions.

CMTT-473. Special Topics In Theatre. 3 Hours.
This revolving topics course allows graduate students the opportunity to study in-depth, specific theatre methods, movements and motivators. Consult the Schedule of Classes for specific topics.